June 12th, 2008

Tacoma, Wash – New Empire Productions' new film division 133 Films is proud to announce the trailer for their first film, Sarah Jane Road, has won first place in its category in the 2008 Boomtown Film and Music Festival in Beaumont, TX.

The film, due out in summer 2008, stars Ernie Joseph and Melissa Goad as a married couple that are driving home from a weekend vacation away. They are in high spirits until a violent storm threatens to make their commute home a little less pleasant. As a result, traffic stops and they decided to skip the highway in favor of some back roads near where Lindsey grew up. But all is not right. In the torrential downpour and darkness they get lost. Stuck in the middle of nowhere in the dark and rain, they are left alone with their own paranoia and fear. The film also stars Jaime Saginor who can also be seen in Limbo.

"It's something completely different than any other film we have done," says Producer Joe Rosati. "I wanted to see if we could make a Hitchcock style suspense film in less than forty minutes," Says Writer/Director Michael Winfrey "So far it seems like we are getting great responses from the trailer," he adds which can be seen here. "It's amazing to see this level of intensity packed into a 35 minute film," Says Executive Producer Randy Sparks.

Limbo, was shown at the Seattle True Independent Film Festival (STIFF) June 15th in Seattle at the Central Cinema.
